Meat and Potatoes at the Table: For All

It was always the same, growing up. The typical meal was meat and potatoes, with a helping of vegetables on the side. The starch stayed the same; the meat, however, was ground beef done in a variety of ways: shaped in patties, in gravy, submerged in a thin tomato sauce, mixed with fried potatoes, or as meatloaf. "Meat and potatoes" usually meant beef and potatoes, substituted on rare occasion by a cut of ham.

My mother was quite utilitarian in her approach. She thought about what would deliver energy on a plate. Nothing represented that more than meat and potatoes. Each meal was energy to sustain an active family of six: Dad, three energetic boys, an even more energetic girl, and Mom. The table nourished us to run the neighborhood, dig holes in the backyard, mow the lawn, earn a living, and swing from the trees. That's what a table is to be about. It is a place for the family to be renewed, a place for the entire family to be fed so that they might go about their work well nourished.

As Jesus offers himself to us at the table of Holy Communion, we receive him in our hands and are given nourishment for the soul. We reach out and grasp the one who gives himself to us and he becomes meat and potatoes for our faith, nourishment needed to live out our Christian vocations in the world. At the table, Jesus energizes his followers to do the work of God in the world.

A strange thing has happened in the church over the centuries: many churches began thinking of the meal as optional, something not needed in the life of faith. Luther countered this by saying that one who calls himself/herself a Christian cannot say that s/he has no need for the sacrament. For, in saying that one has no need for Holy Communion, one is saying that s/he has no need for Christ who gives himself in the meal. One who says s/he has no need for Christ is not a Christian.

Luther's logic is sound theology. If Christ is present in the meal and we know that we need Christ, then, we need to hold out our hands as often as the meal is set out. We need the meat and potatoes of the faith to sustain us. We need to gather at the table. And yet, we still think of the meal as optional and we withhold the meal from people we have deemed "not ready" to receive it: children. Is there ever an age at which a person doesn't need to receive our crucified and risen Lord as he comes to us broken and poured out?

For centuries, Christians of all ages, infants included, were communed. As soon as they were baptized, the liturgical rite would whisk them from the baptismal font to the railing, where a prayer for "confirmation" of the Holy Spirit was prayed over them. They then, received the meat and potatoes of the faith: Holy Communion. Baptism, Confirmation and First Communion were celebrated as a single event. My older boy, Paul, first received Holy Communion in an Episcopal Church. The silver spoon with a bit of wine and a crumb of bread entered his tiny mouth and he received the sacrament long before he was a year old.

Fall Adult Bible

The Acts of the Apostles

When a survey was done in Spring 2016, regarding what books in the Bible people wanted to study, the highest choice was the Gospels, and the second highest was the book of Acts. That will be the focus of the Adult Bible Study, Thursday mornings from 9:30-11:00, beginning Sept. 7. Acts is the definitive record of first century Christian history, after Jesus' resurrection.

Acts is exciting and adventurous. You'll read sermons by two of the great preachers of the first century, Peter and Paul. You'll experience Paul's trial before government authorities. You'll read of prison breaks by Peter, Paul, and Silas. You'll journey with Paul on a pirate ship as he travels to many cities in Europe and Asia Minor, establishing churches in many places. First century Christianity was anything but dull.

If you're willing to take this adventure, Pastor Goodrich will be the guide. We'll meet in Room 207 or the Bell Choir rehearsal room, depending on the number of participants. Bring your Bible. Reading chapters 1 and 2 in the Book of Acts will help you prepare for the first session—Thurs. Sept. 7, 9:30 a.m.

Music Ministry Invitation

Mark Gould, Music Coordinator

Each year I ask the question, "Why sing?" Or "Why ring?" Or "Why play an instrument at Christ the King?" Each year seems to get busier and there are plenty of distractions that leave us wondering, "Is there anything that I want to add to my already full plate?"

Before one could appeal to your response of faith to all God's blessings and grace. Wouldn't you want to sing God's praise with others? After all we have the biblical mandate, "It is good to sing praise to our God." (Psalm 146:1) "Praise God with trumpets, harps, lyres, drums, dancing, harps, flute, cymbals (and by extension hand bells!)" (Psalm 150) Making music in praise of God was getting ready for the eternal, heavenly choir where we can praise God with angels for eternity.

Now one has a better chance of a positive response by an appeal to a more immediate return on investment. Borrowing from an area church musician, John Paradowski, I will share his list of "Health Benefits of Making Music!" I might retitle it as "Why making music is as beneficial as a workout at the Y."

The health benefits of singing are both physical and psychological:

1. Singing and ringing has physical benefits because it is an aerobic activity that increases oxygenation in the blood stream and exercises major muscle groups in your upper body, even while sitting.

2. Your body produces "feel good" hormones called endorphins, which rush around your body when you make music which is linked to our sense of emotional well-being.

3. When people make music together they feel an increased sense of community, belonging and shared endeavor.

4. Good breathing practices increase lung capacity, improves posture, helps to clear respiratory tubes and sinuses and increases mental alertness through greater oxygenation.

5. Boost immunity by promoting healthy lymphatic system.

6. Lowers blood pressure (most of the time).

So to sum it all up, improve your well-being, keep calm and sing/ring for joy!

We have opportunities for all ages to be engaged in singing, ringing, playing of instruments from age 8 to 80 (and beyond). See music coordinator, Mark Gould (Mark@ctkdelafield) or come on out on September 13 when our Wednesday rehearsal schedule kicks off. Hand bells meet from 5.30 to 6.30 pm. The adult (including high school youth) choir meets Wednesdays from 7 to 8.30 p.m. Children will rehearse as a choir Sundays starting September 17 from 10.30 to 11.00 am. All God's Children got a place in our choirs. Make a present and eternal investment in community, better health and last but not least, praising God who gave you the breath and voice.

Choir du jour (Choir for a day)

Not sure if CTK Choir is right for you? Unable to make a seasonal commitment? Join Music Ministry Coordinator, Mark Gould and be part of CTK's "Choir du jour", Choir for a day on Sunday, Oct 1. Those interested are invited to a Meet and Greet the Choir reception at the home of Meredy and Mike Hase immediately following the worship service.

Hurricane Relief

Please stand by our neighbors as we begin the long road to recovering from Hurricane Harvey, one of the most catastrophic storms to hit the country in more than a decade.

Lutheran Disaster Response's affiliate is actively present, collaborating with community leaders and officials to initiate the proper responses, particularly the long-term recovery efforts. Together, we have a strong history of working with disasters in the Gulf Coast area. Recovery efforts are expected to take years, and Lutheran Disaster Response will be there to accompany those affected through every phase of this disaster.

Gifts to Lutheran Disaster Response, designated for "Hurricane Response – United States" will be used entirely (100 percent) for this disaster until the response is complete. Together, we can help provide immediate and long-lasting support. Give today to support the needs in this response and others like it.

We have provided envelopes at CTK or go to ELCA Disaster Response page for Hurricane Harvey relief to donate.

The Prayer Shawl Knitters

CTK Knitters invite you to consider joining us. Our first shawl was knit in 2004 and since then over 350 have been shared with members of our church and their families and friends. Perhaps you have one... We meet the second and fourth Mondays at 1:00 for a knit and fellowship time but knitting can be done anytime or any place. Need to learn how? We would be glad to help! We have yarn for you to use! As part of the Care Ministry at Christ the King, prayer shawls have become gifts from you to those Sylvia, Pastor and others are sharing on their visits... We need your help to keep shawls available for them. Please contact Barb Justman at sjustman@wi.rr.com or the church office at 262-646-2343.

Norb Steinbach – Dedication and a Positive Attitude

Norb Steinbach has served CTK as our treasurer for 10 years and we thank him for his years of service – and now he is looking to enjoy retirement.

"It has been my absolute pleasure to work and serve God with Norb. I will miss him!"

Church Treasurer Position Open
 Do you have bookkeeping or accounting experience? We need YOU! Norb is happy to assist in the transition to a new treasurer, so you won't be without some help. If you are interested and would like to learn more, please contact Norb Steinbach, Sue Ettmayer or Carol White.

Here's what happened over history: Theological reflection led the church to reason that if Jesus is present in the sacrament, it ought to be highly revered. The bread and wine need to be treated as holy, for they contain the presence of Jesus. Their good and well-intentioned reflection led to renewed emphases of being careful with the sacrament and honoring it appropriately. Over time, Church Fathers further reasoned that the sacrament must never be profaned by touching the floor, which in the early church and middle ages was dirt. Again, their reflection led to good piety. However, as time went by, they began to reason that children were likely to drop Jesus as he was handed to them in the bread, profaning our Lord in the filth. Worse, yet, they might spit him up, never to be recaptured. Therefore, parishes began moving away from communing infants and children.

In Lutheran circles, another layer of reasoning was added: Only those who understand what is happening in the sacrament may receive Holy Communion. Therefore, proper instruction must be undertaken before a child receives sacrament. However, our catechism teaches that one is rightly prepared to receive the sacrament when they hear the words that the bread and wine are the body and blood of Jesus "given and shed for you for the forgiveness of sin." In other words, preparation of the person to receive the sacrament happens each and every time a person holds out his or her hands to receive what is offered. A prepared person hears the words and gladly receives what is offered. S/he listens to what is spoken and in faith responds with belief.

Receiving communion is a matter of faith that happens the moment of receiving the gift. One is properly prepared who listens to what is spoken as the bread and wine are given and believes it to be true. Faith isn't taught. It is cultivated by the Holy Spirit as the good word is spoken. And that word is spoken as the sacrament is given.

So, now come the questions, why, then, do we not let all receive the sacrament? Are not children better equipped to believe than we older ones? Why do we let our children go hungry? Why do we withhold Jesus from them? They are able - perhaps even better able than most of us - to believe that Jesus is present for them in the sacrament. This is a question we need to wrestle with and talk about. Our children need the presence of Jesus, as much as we, if they are to be followers of Jesus.

I invite your comments about this topic. I'm calling us to be followers of Jesus gathered at the table where all are welcome. Mom never withheld nourishment from me. We never say to our children that you can't eat the family meal until they understand proper nutrition.

All God's Children News

Even though we don't have children at preschool in August, we have been busy in preparation of the first day of preschool on Monday, Sept. 11. School supplies have been delivered, carpets cleaned and classrooms prepped for the 71 children enrolled! There are still openings in our classes for fall so keep telling your friends and neighbors about our preschool ministry here at Christ the King! Children need to be at least 2 ½ as of September 1 to enroll. We offer half day preschool programs which meet 2, 3 or 5 days a week from 8:30 to 11:30 am. Children also have an opportunity to stay for lunch or extend their day until 2:00. Our 4K program with the KM School District is starting our eighth year and provides a wonderful community connection. Families are also able to open enroll into our KMSD 4K program which offers them an opportunity to keep their children at the same school. If you know someone who is interested in preschool, please let me know as I would be happy to have them visit.

Mark your calendar for our annual All God's Children Ice Cream Social on Tuesday, September 26 in the Christ the King Great Hall. This year we welcome David Landau from Madison, children's entertainer and musician. Dave's personal appearances are upbeat musical programs that keep children engaged and constantly thinking. The kids sing some, move some, act some, dance some, shout just a little bit, and laugh a bunch. The adults just sit back and enjoy the show. Please invite your family, grandkids, neighbors and friends as everyone is welcome. We will be serving hot dogs and sandwiches starting at 5:15 with entertainment to start at 6:15. Free will donation at door.

Thanks, Laurie

A word from Juanita.....

Once upon a time we all learned "The Beatitudes"

I've saved for a long time a card which beautifully states the Birthday Beatitudes. I thought it appropriate to share, since over the months of June, July and August 27 members over the age of 75 were sent birthday wishes.

"The Birthday Beatitudes"

Blessed are those who take birthdays in stride, who can smile when the big day is here..Blessed are those who can look back with pride on another enjoyable year.. Blessed are those who have stayed young-at-heart, who will always seem right in their prime.. Blessed are those who have mastered the art of living one day at a time.. Blessed are those who could never be said to have bowed to today's tears and sorrow.. Blessed are those who keep looking ahead to a brighter and better tomorrow.. Blessed are those who have learned how to see all the beauty of sharing and giving.. Blessed are those who've discovered the key to a life that is really worth living!

"When that Packer Team falls into line, there will be a victory won most every time!" (Don't we wish?) Time will tell! It's fall and summer is over, school will soon be in session. Seems like only yesterday we were all signing "School's out, School's out." Here is a poem, that reminds us of Summer's end. (borrowed from a sister church bulletin)

End-Of Summer Poem

The little songs of summer
are all gone today.
The little insect instruments
Are all packed away:
The bumblebee's snare drum,
The grasshopper's guitar,
The katydid's castanets-
I wonder where they are.
The bullfrog's banjo,
The cricket's violin,
The dragonfly's cello
Have ceased their merry din.
Oh, where is the orchestra?
From harpist down to drummer,
They've all disappeared
With the passing of the summer.

Blessings and Smiles
Juanita

December

Carthage College's Service of Light

The Fellowship Committee is planning an outing to Carthage College's annual Service of Light concert on Friday, December 1. We will first enjoy a holiday buffet dinner from 4:30 p.m. - 6:00 p.m. followed by the concert at 7:30 p.m.. The concert features performances by students in the Carthage Choir, Carthage Women's Ensemble, Lincoln Chamber Singers, Carthage Chorale, Wind Orchestra, and other instrumental ensembles, as well as students from the Theatre Department.

This year's Christmas Festival will be the culmination of a yearlong celebration of the 500th Anniversary of Martin Luther's posting of his 95 Theses. The theme, "From Heaven Above to Earth You Come," comes from a Christmas carol written by Martin Luther in 1534.

An Email Sent to Council that Highlights "Table Time"

Here's an update of progress toward the goal of creating a more cohesively-programmed, community-building, faith-growing Wednesday night. Please read it carefully so that when you get to the end of it, you'll understand more about what I'm asking of you.

As you may recall, the vision of a stronger Wednesday-night program at CTK was first put before the executive committee and council a year ago. When given the green light, the first step was to upgrade refrigerator and freezer space to accommodate a growing program. Unfortunately, that took quite a while to accomplish, and by the time we had the equipment, Christine was announcing her departure, so the Wednesday night program-alignment goal had to be put on hold. However, it did not die. We included the Wednesday night vision in the Faith Growth Coordinator's job description. Teri and I have been working toward meeting this goal. Mark is also on-board with this vision and will be working with his choirs to support it.

I'm excited that we're making progress toward a more unified Wednesday night that focuses on building faith and community. I'm convinced that this program will strengthen us and help us step into the future.

The following groups will continue meeting on Wednesday nights as they have in the past.

1. Bell Choir
2. Discipleship Training (has had a meal as part of the night for several years)
3. Choir

In addition, we will be adding two small group experiences to the evening. More will be added down the road. While inviting all to participate in these groups, we will focus on engaging those not already involved in CTK's small group offerings. In addition, Teri is exploring the option of adding a fifth and sixth grade option, a pre-confirmation experience, to engage an age group that is not active in our Sunday School program. I love that she is exploring this. She's thinking out of the box and asking questions about how to engage those who aren't already involved.

The table will be a central image we employ in making the evening a cohesive and significant ministry program. The weekly meal that you and the council green-lighted last year will be the unifying event of Wednesday nights. It will help groups that would otherwise have no overlap, come together in a shared event, which will include youth and adults. The meal will include worship elements of scripture, song, and prayer (5 minutes) and food served (perhaps family style.)

Mark is going to encourage the Bell Choir to consider moving their rehearsal 15 minutes earlier in the evening so that they can fully participate in the meal. I appreciate that he quickly saw the merits of what we are trying to do. He recognizes that this ministry will help us become a more unified congregation focused on the future. He has seen this model at work in other parishes and knows its potential.

We think we are going to call the evening "Table Time." We will encourage each of the groups to think about how what we do flows out of our engagement with Christ at the table of Holy Communion, and challenge one another to grow in our understanding of how Christ's presence among us (given in both the Word and in Holy Communion) shapes us to be a "tabled community" that worships, grows in faith, builds community, and serves beyond our walls.

Here's the tentative schedule, along with a rough estimate of potential people from each groups who may participate in the meal.

5:30	Bell Choir begins (Let's encourage the Bells to make this change.)	12 people
5:30	Grades 4-6 event begins (tentative , may not be weekly)	5 people
6:00	Discipleship Training begins	10 people
6:30	Small Groups gather (at the meal)	15 people
6:30	Time at the table: The meal - for half an hour - We don't want groups entering into this late, as the meal is a programmatic faith event to build community. We want to sit down as we do for a family meal - together at the same time.
7:00	Choir begins practice	15 people
7:00	Small groups (two of them) go to their spaces for their time together

It could be that we'll have more than fifty people sharing a meal together each week. These numbers are a very rough estimate of potential. Of course it could be more than fifty, if every person in each group participates in the meal. The rough estimate of mine is optimistic, but I'm hopeful that most will appreciate being together for the meal. I'm also optimistically hoping that you, as leaders of the congregation, will do more than just nod in approval. I hope you will remember the vision that you encouraged me on last summer, a vision that led to the purchase of the equipment, a vision that was postponed because of Christine's departure, a vision that was embedded in Teri's job description six months ago.

The more we are together in encouraging one another toward this, the more easily this ministry will flourish.

Peace and all that is good!
